

HEALING INTENTIONS

Healing Intentions is a 4-session small group experience designed to lead participants through a process that prepares them to engage in intentional healing for themselves and for others. People will learn how to focus their attention and utilize the power of thought and intention to bring about positive change. Part of the purpose of this group is to use the healing intentions process to generate a positive impact on our community.

We believe that the positive and focused intention of a group of people can make a difference that can be felt and experienced. We encourage you to join us in this very important process.

Healing can be thought of in many ways:

- Relief from physical disease or pain
- Increased peace and contentment in life
- Improved relationships at home or at work
- Increased freedom from emotional loss or pain
- Forgiveness for yourself or someone else

We believe that this program can have a profound impact for good. It can change the way you think about who you are and what is possible for us to accomplish together.
